

List of Contributors

Yen-Lian Liu is a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature at National Cheng Kung University in Taiwan. He also works as an adjunct lecturer in the Department of English at National University of Tainan. His research interests include men's/masculinity studies, gender studies, and the American literature. He currently works on white masculinity and paternalism in American Southern novels, including the works by William Faulkner, Mark Twain, Truman Capote, and Cormac McCarthy.

Annette Schimmelpfennig is a PhD student and research assistant at the University of Cologne, Germany. Her current research focuses on the deconstruction of sense and meaning in postmodern fiction, especially the works of Bret Easton Ellis. Schimmelpfennig has previously published various articles on presentations of gender in popular TV shows such as Hannibal and The Walking Dead.

Evdokia Stefanopoulou was born in Thessaloniki, Greece in 1983. She is a Ph.D. candidate in Film Studies Department, in Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. She holds a bachelor's degree from the same department and a master's degree in Cultural Studies: Semiotics and Communication, from University of Western Macedonia. The topic of her research is the American science fiction film in the 21st century. Her research interests include film theory, science fiction, gender and technoculture.