

List f Contributors

Leonie Wanitzek recently completed her B.A. in English Literature at the Universities of Bayreuth (Germany) and Chester (United Kingdom). This article is based on her B.A. thesis, “Teachers to Remember: Muriel Spark’s The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie and Alan Bennett’s The History Boys”.

Redfern Jon Barrett has a PhD in Literature from the University of Wales. He is the author of Queer Friendship and the speculative fiction novel Forget Yourself and currently lives in Berlin.

Friederike Danebrock holds a BA in English and German Studies from the University of Cologne. Her bachelor thesis “Fantasies of Distance: Monsters on Post-Millennial Television” examined conceptions of subjectivity in recent television series. Her fields of interest include psychoanalytic theory and popular culture as well as the semantic study of fiction.